New & Upgraded

Our New Team Members & Promotions

Michael Greenlaw

Principal Security Consultant

We're absolutely thrilled to announce that Michael Greenlaw has been promoted to Principal Security Consultant! Michael has been a cornerstone of HanaByte since the very beginning as a Co-Founder and has made a significant impact on our growth and success. His dedication to continuous improvement and learning led to the implementation of outstanding security measures for our clients. We couldn't be prouder of his achievements and are excited to see how he will continue to shape the future of our team!

Our New Certifications

What We Can Do For You

We're always leveling up our certifications. Here are one of the many skills our team members have achieved!

We're now AWS Advanced Tier!

This recognition from AWS highlights us as a technical partner with deep expertise and a strong track record in customer success. With this new designation, we're able to offer even higher levels of service and expertise in AWS environments, ensuring your satisfaction and delivering outstanding project results.

BSides Atlanta

The pack was delighted to be at BSides Atlanta on September 14th! It was a fantastic opportunity for us to catch up and reconnect after some time apart, in addition to meeting some of our associates. Simon Abisoye, our Staff Security Consultant, delivered his talk titled "This is a gated community please get off the property." Simon shared a real-world example of using an AWS web application firewall (WAF) to tackle unauthorized access issues. The team was proud to support him and gain valuable knowledge from his experience. We had an awesome time attending the talks and networking with the local BSides community!

Techno Security & Digital Forensics Conference

On September 18th, Patrick Davis, our Principal Security Consultant, took the stage at the Techno Security & Digital Forensics Conference. His talk focused on securing serverless computing infrastructure at scale while achieving regulatory compliance. Patrick also shared valuable insights on using tools like Amazon API Gateway, Amazon CloudFront, AWS WAF, AWS Shield, and AWS Shield Advanced to safeguard serverless environments. It was an engaging session packed with practical strategies to manage risks and enhance cloud security.

HanaByte Monthly Webinar

On September 26th, we were honored to be joined by our guest speaker Travis McPeak, Co-Founder and CEO of Resourcely to talk about “Hard Truths Your CISO Won’t Tell You.” We explored important security facts that often go unspoken, discussing the intersection of security and business as well as collaboration with developers on best practices.

With Travis’ impressive background—including roles as Head of Product Security at Databricks and leading the application security team at Netflix—he shared valuable perspectives from his experiences driving significant security initiatives. If you missed it, the webinar is available on demand on our YouTube channel. Be sure to check it out!
